When is a "SALE" Not a Sale!

If we wanted to destroy the confidence and faith of our patrons, how easy it would be to replace the prices of a year or two ago, and advertise, "Sensational Discounts," "One-Half off," etc., etc., and etc.!

It is true that today's values are much greater than many years—that's not news. Long ago we revised prices of everything in our store. We took our losses wherever necessary so that today our regular prices compare favorably with so-called discount offerings.

And, equally as important, our stocks comprise only up-to-date stylish jewelry of highest quality. Thus you may be sure that the gift you buy will not betray you—as to style and quality.

Glasses Are Such a Help—
Such a Comfort!

The first and foremost function of glasses is to relieve eye-strain and correct faulty vision. By so doing, they also relieve the strain on the brain. They permit clearer, keener thinking, surer, steadier nerves, more "even" dispositions, as well as overcome such secondary physical symptoms as headaches and stomach upsets. You will like glasses. By relieving strain, they add measurably to your comfort and efficiency.

Shorey on Banking

From the Bridgton News

Editor Shorey lapses a little from making governors and building state highways to talk on finance and banking in his last paper. He says:

"We have before us an announcement from the city of Rockland to the effect that the Security Trust Company of that city are to make a service charge on small checking accounts. We have read this announcement through very carefully with the expectation that we would find therein some statement to the effect that interest was to be allowed on the larger checking balances, but if these Rockland banks have any intention of so doing, they have failed to make mention of this fact in their published announcement.

Checking accounts that do not carry a daily balance of $100 or more are to be subject to a monthly service charge of one dollar. No overdrafts will be honored on any accounts and a charge of 25c will be made for each check drawn against insufficient funds, regardless of the average daily balance of the account.

"We do not carry an account in either of the Rockland banks mentioned but the announcement rather interests us as we seem to read the handwriting on the wall. It is as follows:

"The service charge is not a new and untried plan. It has been in use for more than a decade. It is operative in several thousand banks throughout the country. Its adoption seems destined to become practically universal. It has been in effect in a number of Maine banking institutions for some years."

"The attitude of banking institutions throughout the country seems to have changed somewhat since we were a boy. We can remember the days when banking institutions used to urge the small depositor to pay by check. Now the little fellow seemed to be 'person non grata.' The banks are looking more to dividends on their capital stock than they are to the accommodation of the public.

"The small towns who have allowed their own mutual savings banks to be 'gobbled up' by the merged banks are beginning to wake up to the realization that they have sold their birthright for a mess of pottage. These local savings banks were organized for the accommodation of the community in which they were incorporated. They were for the convenience of that community and its people. The officials in charge of their management knew the credit standing of the fellows who wanted to hire money and it was their business to let money on proper security. That was a part of their business, just as it is a part of the business of a local merchant to sell goods.

"We don't know much about the banking business nor high finance in general, but from what little we do know, it seems to us that the banks are not doing their part in times like these. They appear to be in a panicky frame of mind and such a condition unsettles business in general.

"They are closing in on the little fellow who needs a few hundred dollars to tide him over and the inability of the wholesaler to borrow from the banks sufficient money to meet his obligations is reflected all down the line. One of the problems which the new Congress will have to contend with when it gets down to business is some regulation of the banking business. The present tendency to merge all capital under one control bodes no good for the country in general."

Sunday used to be a day of peace—now it's the day when they bring home the pieces.

Mrs. Eunice Putnam, who was 88 years old Saturday, Dec. 12, was the honor guest at the Past Noble Grand Association of Putnam Lodge, held at the home of Mrs. R. M. Only a few days remain to enter the $6,000 Christmas contest of Frigidair Corporation, Ralph R. Butts, South Paris, local representative of this General Motors subsidiary, reminded local residents yesterday.

The contest will close at midnight, Christmas Eve, and all entries postmarked before that time will be included in the judging, he explained.

The contest is a test of skill in forming a nine word statement about Frigidair electric refrigerators by using the letters of the word "Christmas". Entries are obtainable at the local Frigidair showroom without cost or obligation on the part of the contestant, it was pointed out.

"First prize," Mr. Butts said, "will be $1,000 in cash. There will be ten awards of the latest models of the lifetime porcelain-epsted Frigidairs and fifty prizes of $50 in cash."

The local Frigidair representative extends an invitation to the public to tune in on the Frigidair radio programs, now being broadcast every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons over a 50 station hookup of the N. B. C., or come to the showroom for all details.

MODERN WIFE HAS MORE VARIETY IN MENU THAN MOTHER

Old-Fashioned Holiday Meal Formulas Wear New Dresses in the 1931 Mode

Undoubtedly mother was a good cook, but no husband is going to have reason this Christmas, if the modern wife keeps her eyes open and her wits about. For the markets today offer greater variety than ever before and prices are low enough to come within the most modest budgets.

The modern homemaker may follow mother's old-fashioned formulas this holiday season, but she proceeds to dress them up in a way that adds many a new appetizing appeal.

Take the matter of introducing the dinner. Her fruit cocktail and that in strawberries, tasting as though they had just been picked. Vegetables offer an old-fashioned choice in the closing days of 1931—summering was beans, green beans, lima beans, green peas, spinach, baby mushrooms, fresh-flavored golden autumn corn. And the homemaker of today can buy any of these vegetables ready to cook without any of the preliminary bother of washing, scraping, or preparing them.

For the holiday dessert, instead of, or in addition to plum pudding, there are delicious sun-ripened strawberries already to be made into shortcakes, mousses or puddings. One of the best of these modern puddings is the White Mountain Fruit Mold given below. Pie cherries, testing as though they had dropped straight from the trees—and all pitted—blueberries, logan berries and blackberries are also available this year.

Fruit Cup
Remove skin and seeds from one-half pound white grapes. Pare and cut in sections two oranges. Add 1 cup of new Serve icy cold in cocktail glasses.

Spinach Ring with Mushrooms
1 box quick frozen spinach—cooked according to directions
1 box quick frozen mushrooms
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups cream sauce
1 cup cream
1 cup milk
Dash of pepper
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
Salted butter
4 tablespoons flour

Chop spinach fine, add grated onion, which has been browned in butter. Season with salt, pepper and egg yolk beaten. Mix spinach with one-half the cream sauce and fold in egg whites which have been stiffly beaten. Place in buttered ring mold placed in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes. Loosen the spinach from the side of the mold with a knife, and turn out on a hot platter. Fill the center with mushrooms which have been sautéed in butter until soft and mixed with the rest of the cream sauce. Garnish with strips of pineapples and hard cooked egg. Serves six.

White Mountain Fruit Mold
1 cup sugar
1-2 cup water
1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 egg white, beaten until stiff
Boil sugar, water and cream of tartar until it spins a long thread. Pour gradually on beaten egg white, beating constantly as in making frosting. Cool.

Solve 1 tablespoon gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water or steam. Add to cool frosting mixture. Whip and add 1 cup heavy cream. Fold in 1 cup quick frozen raspberries. Mold, chill, garnish and fill center of ring with the fruit. Two boxes of berries are required for the recipe. Serves 8 to 10. Whipped cream may be placed on top of the berries in the center.

Old Doc Mitchell Queries

Few men whose names are recorded in history have excited my envy; they have had intonations, troubles, burdens, which were in the end more weighty than their joys; but when I think of Adam I do have a feeling that borders on actual envy. And this is what started me. "And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field." What a job that must have been!

Genesis does not state how long a time was consumed in this task, but it seems probable that Adam was not bothered by any thought of unemployment; that each night when he went to rest, he knew just what he would do on the day following. No bother about taxes, rent, food expenses; no shadow of a possible discharge on account of age or lack of business.

According to a late Encyclopedia, there are now on the earth about half a million different kinds of animal life; that is, mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians, fishes, mollusks and insects. It is not probable that there are now as many of these as when the world was new. So, to be conservative, it must have kept Adam busy over a period of years to name all these.

If he averaged one a minute, which would keep an active and alert man fairly busy, and worked eight hours a day and six days each week (it is not likely that Adam worked on the Sabbath, for that was against the rule) it would have required at least ten years to complete the animal directory. And so, in this time of little business and unemployment, I envy Adam's good fortune.

But there is always a drawback. What kept Adam happy and content prior to the arrival of Eve. Who darned his socks and performed the other little acts of comfort and consolation before the surgical operation was thought off. There's the rub. Perhaps I wouldn't have liked the job at that.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Christmas Sunday is December 20, with special music under the direction of Mrs. Ida Neal at the morning service. A Christmas story will be told to the children and the minister's sermon will be "The Challenge of Christ to Modern Civilization." Services begin at 10:30. All will attend the annual vesper at Deering Memorial Church in the late afternoon.

Christmas decorations were in place last Sunday and arranged under the direction of Mrs. Walter L. Gray and Miss Sarah Parlin. Fir trees, wreaths and red berries were tastefully arranged about the church and choir loft with sprigs of fir and red berries on each pew.

The first in the series of monthly song services was held Sunday evening. An orchestra played two selections and Miss Dorothy Dean played a violin solo, "The Christmas Carol." A duet was sung by Jeanette Goldsmith and Carline Farnham, with Mrs. Helen Shaw at the piano. An old-fashioned Sunday night sing was led by the orchestra. The minister, Rev. H. Colby, spoke for fifteen minutes on "The Story of Holy Night" and prefaced his remarks with a tribute to the late Bishop Phillips Brooks and his family Christmas carol "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Players in the orchestra who added much to the program were Mrs. Helen Shaw, piano; Dorothy Dean, violin; Clarence Huff, trumpet; James MacFarland, trombone; and Howard Shaw, saxophone.

Mrs. Ida Neal was in her accustomed place as organist and music director at the morning service, after an absence of two weeks. She will play again next Sunday. Mrs. Neal has resigned her place as organist by Miss Louise J. Bixby. Church school attendance has been 125 the past two Sundays and the Young People's Society is flourishing. The church has furnished entertainment and Elmore Edmunds' Lindy Class flourishes.

The Seneca Club held its meeting next Monday evening, Dec. 21, with Mrs. L. Laella Morton. The roll call is Christmas quotations. A Christmas story will be given by Mrs. Ida Colby, a musical reading by Mrs. Madge Gray, and a Christmas story by Mrs. Mary Stanley. The program will close with the usual club Christmas tree.

Those who have been chosen to speak in the regular contest are as follows: Muriel Titus, Bertha Smith, Carline Farnham, Marguerite Shaw with Louise Colby as an alternate. Lawrence Brown, Arnold Tash, Raynor Brown, Russell Mack, Ralph Siles with Norman Bean as an alternate.

Mrs. J. P. Robinson and Mrs. Lloyd Webster were hostesses to entertain the W. D. T. Class at the Baptist church vestry, Thursday evening. A covered fish supper was served at 6:30, followed by a social and Christmas tree.

Theresa Swan assisted by Shirley Eastman and Roxie Snow entertained the Golden Key Class of the Congregational church on Friday evening. There were games and refreshments. The teachers, Mrs. Muriel Edmunds and fourteen members were present.

The funeral held at Huff's funeral parlors, Saturday afternoon was attended by Rev. C. L. Kinney. Members of the Optimistic Class of the Universalist church attended in a body. The bearers were Nelson McAllister, George F. Eastman, J. N. Horr and Horace Edwards. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

The Opportunity Class of the Congregational church met at the home of the hostess, Mrs. Helena A. D. Nelson, Monday evening. Mrs. Gladys Small assisted the hostess.

The Cletrac tractors fitted with Sargent snow plows and leased to the town, have arrived. One to West Paris, the other will be kept in a building on the town lot behind the creamery. The tractors are for breaking roads and rented at a fixed sum, with privilege of buying should the town desire to do so.

Miss Rena Trilley entertained party at luncheon and bridge on the afternoon of Dec. 9. Luncheon was at the home of Mrs. Helen Briggs and cards were enjoyed at Miss Trilley's. The guests were Mrs. Alta Wise, Mrs. Gladys Small, Mrs. Jessie Strobeck, Mrs. Jennie Holden, Mrs. Eva Titus, Mrs. Frances Maxim and Mrs. Fannie Packard.

DAIRY BREEDERS HEAR U. S. D. A. SENIOR DAIRYMAN

At South Paris and Fryeburg

Two meetings of particular interest to dairy breeders were held Dec. 11 and 12, at South Paris and Fryeburg. Joseph Parker, Senior Dairyman of the U. S. D. A. and R. P. Talbot, Extension Dairy Specialist were secured as speakers for these meetings. Sixteen farmers were present at South Paris and twenty-three at Fryeburg. Dinner was served by the local farm bureau ladies.

Mr. Parker presented information showing the results of breeding experiments carried on with proven bulls by the various experiment stations. Discussing the subject of heredity transmission of character, Mr. Parker brought out the fact that the laws of chance determine whether or not an individual animal inherits the character for high milk and butterfat production. Out of 1500 bulls that have been proven getting production records on dams and daughters, only one-third were found to increase production of their daughters over the production of the dam.

This shows that the dairyman, selecting a bull without records, has less than an even chance of finding one that will increase his herd production.

On the other hand, when the bulls are used which have records showing that they have actually caused an increase of production in daughters over dams, these bulls have been found to consistently raise the production on other herds. Mr. Parker also points out the fact that the next best thing to buying a bull which has been proven is to buy a son of this bull.

"Proving" a bull involves keeping a bull at least five years, keeping production records, on dams and daughters and also provision for keeping the bull active and at the same time safe to handle.

Safe bull pens on the farm are necessary in order to keep our valuable bulls from going to the butcher before their worth has been discovered.

Roscoe and Oris Lebaron were in Fryeburg, on business, Monday; they found the traveling bus on the way to the ice.
